

Roundtable on Population Health Improvement
Building Sustainable Financing Structures for Population Health: A Workshop
October 19, 2016

DRAFT AGENDA

Location: National Academy of Sciences Building, 2101 Constitution Avenue, NW, Washington, DC

WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES:

In the context of multi-sector collaboration, a focus on dependable (not one-time) resources, and with the aim of improving health, wealth, wellbeing and health equity:

1. Improve the fiscal fluency of decision makers and the public—to move toward common purpose at community scale—explore frameworks for funding reinvestment and reallocation
2. Identify existing opportunities constraints on realigning funding in ways that are conducive to co-benefits (for all sectors involved)
3. Discuss the strategies, including conditions, needed to realign resources, i.e., what it takes to move funding from one arena to another
4. Explore what decision makers, communities, and other stakeholders need to speak about realignment with confidence, including the possible opportunities to move funds from one part of the system to another
